

Mark It Down: June 22 Is Darwin Perennials Day 2022

Darwin Perennials brings back its in-person event next spring to showcase the latest introductions and educate perennial plant producers in The Gardens at Ball.

WEST CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, August 2021: Darwin Perennials®, North America's premier breeder of vegetative perennials, will once again welcome industry guests in-person for its annual Darwin Perennials Day event, Wednesday, June 22, 2022. Save the date and plan your visit to West Chicago, Illinois, where the event promises a complete perennial experience with Zone 5 overwintered trial garden comparisons, new perennial variety introductions, engagement with top suppliers from the perennial industry and on-site experts for continued education.

"Darwin Perennials can't wait to see our industry customers and partners again in The Gardens at Ball next June," says Seth Reed, Sales and Marketing Manager for Darwin Perennials. "While we were thrilled to offer virtual video training and new product education during the past year, nothing beats a chance to see plants live and in-person. Our gardens and experts will be ready to show-off the best next spring."

More details will follow soon on how to register for this much-anticipated perennial event. Sign up for the Darwin Perennials blog at darwinperennials.com/blog to get up-to-date news and information on the latest plants and programs that make your business a success.

About Darwin Perennials®

Darwin Perennials is Ball Horticultural Company's perennial brand in North America. Their extensive line-up includes the traditional and reliable to the new and innovative, and comes in a variety of forms, including clean-stock unrooted cuttings and liners, bare root and seed. Darwin Perennial's outstanding services means success for perennial growers. Visit darwinperennials.com.